Web.com to Host Hartford Area Small Businesses at the Web.com Small Business Summit
To Help Strengthen Their Online Marketing Efforts

Free Web Marketing Seminar to be Held at the Travelers Championship at TPC River Highlands

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 16, 2015 -- Web.com (Nasdaq: WWWW), a leading provider of Internet services and online marketing solutions for small businesses, will host a free Web.com Small Business Summit designed to help small business owners in the greater Hartford area learn how to successfully increase their businesses' visibility and better market themselves online. The Web.com Small Business Summit will take place during the 2015 Travelers Championship on Tuesday, June 23, at TPC River Highlands in Cromwell, Connecticut. Through Web.com's agreement with the PGA TOUR and as umbrella sponsor of the Web.com Tour, Web.com developed the Small Business Summit as a benefit to small business owners in communities across the country.

“We are proud to partner with Web.com for the second year in a row to host a small business summit to educate entrepreneurs on how to grow their online presence and market to their customers,” said Travelers Championship Tournament Director Nathan Grube. “One of the great parts of the tournament is that it provides a $28 million economic impact annually to the businesses of Connecticut. With the support of our corporate partners, Web.com, Bank of America, and Hartford Business Journal, we are pleased to help local small business owners continue to prosper and grow while also having the chance to enjoy the Travelers Championship experience.”

Justin Leedy, director of marketing at Web.com, will lead the discussion at the Web.com Small Business Summit, and will share information and tools that small businesses can use to improve their cash flow and business performance; increase their online visibility; and optimize their online marketing efforts.

Topics and content at the Web.com Small Business Summit focus on ways small business owners can achieve a successful Internet presence, including the elements of a great website, how to determine if their website is working for them, increasing traffic to their website and business, mobile marketing and decoding how to efficiently market their business on Google, Facebook and Twitter.

“As part of our commitment to give back to the communities we serve, we are pleased to offer this event which is focused on helping small business owners improve their business model,” said Leedy. “Every day, Web.com helps millions of business owners address the challenges of building and maintaining an effective online presence that allows their businesses to grow. We expect a lively dialogue covering a range of key, timely topics that small business owners face when tackling this increasingly important digital opportunity.”
